The aim of this report is to analyze the strengths and weaknesses of the English language course that was attended by me and my classmates and explain whether it is worth attending or not.

The strengths of the course include very instructive lessons on listening, reading skills and pronunciation. Also, there are great facilities provided, such as regular meals ^{at} ~~in~~ a canteen, a big library and technical equipment that is convenient to use. A lot of foreign students attended the course, and it was interesting to interact with them.

The weaknesses are an excessive amount of homework that is difficult to complete and quite small classes. Also, there are not many opportunities for socializing and communicating.

To conclude, I would certainly recommend the course. Despite the disadvantages, it is effective, and there are prospects of growth for students.
